The 8th Angkor Cup

Let Cambodian climbers participate in the Tokyo Olympic Games !

The Angkor Cup had been nominally held sponsored by the CCF (the Cambodian Climbing Federation) but for the first time the 8th Angkor Cup was held as an official national sports meet with the presence of a physical education manager from the Ministry of Education and Youth Sports. (The winners and times are on the following pages.)

NPO Angkor Climbers Net General Meeting on August 24th (Sat) 17:00~

At Karin- Wild Flower Tea House Non-members are welcome to join us!

You can find the place on <https://loco.yahoo.co.jp/place/g-yXDoa1BKF2A/>

This will be the 6th general meeting since ACN became an NPO in 2014. We would like to review the activities of the past years and also plan for 2019~20 at the foot of Mt. Yatsugatake which is a 15-minute walk from Kai-Oizumi station, Koumi Line, or a 15-minute drive from the Central Expressway, Nagasaka Interchange. There is also a hot spring near there and we are planning to have a BBQ party, providing accommodations at Karin-so. Please bring your own sheets or a sleeping bag. ACN's members will be invited by mail and non-members are also welcome to join us.

Speed final on Dec. 8

There is no official speed wall in Cambodia yet, but two routes of similar arrangement were set side by side. Of course there are no auto-belayer and no motorized stopwatches, so each needed two belayers and referees timed the races manually. Since the race was a top rope, 56 people participated, including beginners who were just getting started and were far from “speed”

Route-setting for the bouldering on Dec.9

We were able to hold this year's competition with the support of volunteers from home and abroad for painting walls, refereeing, photo and video shooting etc. Also, many presents for the lottery were sent from Japan. Thank you very much for your generous cooperation.

Bouldering qualification, final on Dec. 10

In the bouldering qualification, a total of 20 routes were set, and ten routes were designated according to age and gender. We decided the finalists in each category of four people according to how many climbed. Since the day was a Cambodian holiday, a total of 53 people including many beginners participated.

Outside isolation zone

Finalists spent lunch time without looking at the routes for the final in this outside isolation zone and then they made their observation. The final used the belt-conveyor system. Climbers competed three tasks for each gender and age in four minutes, with four minutes rest.

Yan fai had a rest for more than four minutes as he could climb each task at on the first try.

As for the final task surrounded by red tape, a climber could not reach the next hold unless he jumped from the red volume to the blue one. Ny Cholna (Youth D) succeeded. After the final, everyone who fell in the qualification tried it again and again, one after another.

Climbers received medals, prizes, and words of encouragement from guests including a physical education manager from the Ministry of Education and Youth Sports, a vice director of State Education Bureau and sponsor Taica

As additional prizes, uniforms of the Japanese team were given to all climbers within the 10th place in the qualification for men and women under 15 years old. JMSEA presented uniforms to encourage Cambodian climbers and staff from Taica delivered them. Thank you very much for your cooperation. Young climbers : Practice

ACN is a member of Cambodia Climbing Federation (CCF)

CCF, however, needs our support. It is making progress little by little.

Nationwide training workshop for instructors sponsored by the CCF

A big step toward the ACN's biggest aim, which is to support the activities of establishing ACN Cambodia by Cambodians themselves. The first nationwide instructor workshop for state officials and PE teachers sponsored by CCF was held on December 20~24. The venues were Siem Reap Stadium and Angkor Wall. The CCF notified all 25 provinces throughout country and people from five provinces attended the meeting and learned the fundamentals of climbing from Semrorn, Mr. Sotharin and ACN staff. From an outsider view point, I felt envious of climbing being considered as an official trip.

This nationwide training was

Representatives of the CCF attended the IFSC General Meeting

As the CCF became a member of the IFSC, International Federation of Sports Climbing, at the general meeting held in Innsbruck, Austria last March, Cambodian climbers have become eligible to attend international competitions. When the CCF received the invitation to the general meeting, we think that it was the chance for the CCF to attend the meeting because it would be held in Tokyo. (It will be held in Cyprus next year which is far.) So, Mr. Choun Sokvandy, the chairperson of the CCF, and Semrorn, a secretary-general, visited Japan and attended the workshop at the Shinagawa Prince Hotel, the SEACF General Meeting and the IFSC General Meeting in Tokyo. Their participation was possible thanks to the support for one person, air fare, accommodations, and entrée fees from the ACN and Taica. This time, building ties with other participants, the CCF undertook to hold the instructor training of the SEACF in Siem Reap in June 2019. Kimsroy and Mono, who got their instructor licenses in Indonesia last year, will assist with the training workshop this time.

The CCF attended the party held by the Prime Minister

On April 4, there is the annual party which all sports federations in Cambodia attend and to be given encouragement from the Prime Minister. Last year, the 30-person, the quota of the CCF members, was almost filled with Phnom Penh residents. The group photo taken there is the cover photo on the CCF's Facebook page.

<https://www.facebook.com/Cambodia-climbing-federation-1528073324108067/>

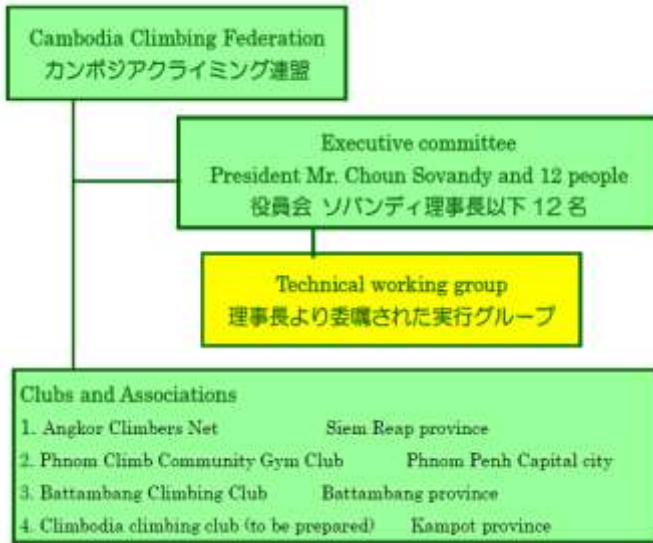

This year, the CCF asked the ACN to send 20 people from Siem Reap and to support part of their transportation expenses.

The present members of the CCF consist of four groups, one of which is ACN in Siem Reap. In Japan, prefectural federations belong to JMSCA, Japan Gift from Singapore including Shoes !

Mr. Ben and Mr. Kai, who set routes for the Lotus Cup last year, called on Facebook to donate climbing shoes, taking care that Cambodian children’s shoes were perforated. The call led to a lot of shoes donated and they brought them to the Angkor Wall. The children who didn’t have their own shoes got their personal ones, and on top of that, unique-shaped choke bags and T-shirts were gifted to them. Thank you very much to everyone in Singapore.

Are you going to outdoor rock climbing areas?

Editor's note

Of course we are! But there are no photos of outdoor rock climbing in Newsletter 23 and 24 issued this year. It is not that we didn't go to some rock climbing areas. Actually, we went to Sisophon, Peung Tanon,, Svay Leu, outside of Siem Reap, and a rock climbing area in Laos. On some occasions we guided guests, on others we went climbing in our free time. I couldn't even imagine ten years ago that the staff of ACN Cambodia would be able to go climbing in outdoor rock climbing area without guests from abroad and young climbers posted on Facebook from where they were at the moment. There is one young climber who has to save the money for food during a tour, which was given by sponsor, and he has to help his family finances with it. It has become difficult to assess climbers' ways of living after making a rule that Cambodians can use the wall free of charge and non-Cambodian cover expenses of running the wall with their donations. We would like to talk about including such issues, so please come to the general meeting. (Chimi)
